

LEO M. FRANK IS SAID TO BE IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

Milledgeville, Ga., July 19.—The condition of Leo M. Frank, suffering from a serious knife wound in the throat inflicted by William Green, a fellow life-term convict, at the Georgia state prison, remained critical tonight. Dr. G. D. Compton, the prison physician, announced, however, that he was hopeful of Frank's recovery. Possible blood poisoning from infection is one of the chief dangers, he said.

Frank's temperature late today was announced as 101.8, his circulation at 100 and his respiration at 20. Early today his temperature was 102.4. Attending physicians were gratified at the decline.

Green questioned further by prison officials today, said he believed that he had been called "from on high" to kill Frank, whose death sentence for Mary Phagan's murder recently was commuted by Governor Slaton, now retired. He indicated no remorse, as he had done immediately after the attack Saturday night.

"I only wish that I had had more strength," Green said.

"I think that I have done my duty in this matter as well as my strength allowed. I believe that God has helped me. I don't think that I ever did wrong in my life."

Green, although he weighs 165 pounds is partly paralyzed in his left arm. Physicians attending Frank believe that this fact probably saved his life as Green was unable to seize him while he used the knife.

Warden Smith said today that Green probably would be tried for murder. No decision has been reached as to what action will be taken if Frank recovers.

Late tonight it was announced that Frank's temperature had dropped to 100 and that his general condition was good.

SOCIETY WILL AID CHILDREN

(By Herbert Coleman, Secretary)

Born of a humane and patriotic dream, nurtured by the prayers of the faithful and set in motion by the Heaven inspired invincibility of the faithful corps of workers who have espoused its cause, the Alabama Children's Home Society, as the name indicates, has entered upon its career of usefulness in providing homes for that contingent of the offspring of man who have been thrown adrift by the inexorable operation of transgression, adversity, and calamity; in many instances by the sin of their parents and in other cases through sickness, poverty and death.

It is proposed by well executed plans to gather from every town, community, and county deserted and abused children by this society, which has been recently organized in Alabama with headquarters in Montgomery. The society is headed by a board of forty directors, consisting of prominent and philanthropic men from various sections of the state. Judge A. A. Evans, the well known jurist has been appointed president of the society; Herbert Coleman, secretary; Michael Mahr, treasurer; and Capt. L. A. Odont, as State superintendent.

Who can estimate the economic value to society, to the State, to the country, to mankind and to posterity of every child thus rescued? There cannot be a more merciful mission, a more patriotic and humane labor of love, than that of picking up neglected and forsaken children and placing them in good homes where they can receive the necessities of life.

It is the purpose of the society to operate a receiving home in Montgomery for the care of orphan, abused, and deserted children, from every section of Alabama, and place them in family homes for proper training and education.

It is clearly perceptible that the society, with its proposed actions at work, will lift a burden from the State and tax payers, where as under the present system it requires an outlay of more than one hundred dollars per annum for each child—whereas, for every $25.00 received this society can actually place and adopt a child into a home where the public will be forever relieved from any further responsibility.

This is an independent, interdenominational, and non-sectarian movement. It invites the co-operation of Jew, Gentile, Greek, Catholic and Protestant.

The society requests the citizens of every community to notify them when they know of neglected children in their locality and an investigation will be made of same by the state superintendent at his earliest convenience. Those who wish to adopt Revival Services at First Baptist Church Growing in Interest.

—21 Additions to the Membership.

"Crazy Folks or Moral Insanity," is the subject for a discourse by Rev. John A. Wray, at the First Baptist Church at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

This is a special subject by Mr. Wray, and has been presented in many places with great effect, and will no doubt create more than passing interest in Dothan.

The special revival services are growing in interest and attendance at each service. There have been up to date 21 additions to the church, 17 of whom united with the church on professions of faith.

The singing led by Mr. Jelks is one of the great features of the services. The song service begins each evening at 7:45.

OFF FISHING TOMORROW.

A party of fishermen will leave in automobiles in the morning for Okeechee Lake in Florida for several days fishing. In the party will be: J. N. Blum, J. W. Batchelor, J. D. Fay, S. O. Williams, C. E. Harmon, Clayton Willis, S. B. Bennett, Dock Reeves and Dr. Passmore.

Children may write the organization at 82 Vandiver building, Montgomery, Ala.

The society will endeavor to finance its work through a membership fee. Those who subscribe and pay $2.50 annually for a number of years will be privileged to a voice and vote in the affairs of the organization; those who pay $5.00 for one year will be entitled to a vote at all meetings held by the society during that year; by the payment of $50 a lifetime membership is received and it is believed that many citizens of Alabama will join hands in this unselfish labor of humanity after its work has become thoroughly familiar with the public.

SUFFRAGETTE AUTO GETS DR. SHAW INTO SOME TROUBLE

DR. ANNA HOWARD SHAW

Philadelphia, July 19.—That beautiful yellow suffrage auto, "Eastern Victory" presented to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, is getting her into a lot of trouble. First the auto was seized by the horrid Delaware county authorities as security for taxes, which Dr. Shaw has refused to pay, arguing as per our Revolutionary forefathers, "no taxation without representation." Represented or not, they took the auto and are still holding it. Now Dr. Shaw's chauffeur comes forward and says the suffrage president has not paid him his salary for guiding the destines of "Eastern Victory" along the high ways and by ways.

The auto is to be sold at auction at Media, on July 24, say the authorities. The chauffeur says he wants his money right away. Dr. Shaw is seeking an injunction to prevent the sale.

FOUR AGENTS TO DOTHAN TEAM GET INSURANCE IS SCATTERED

Insurance amounting to $46,000, this being the amount carried on the new City Hall and Grammar School buildings, will be equally divided among the four local agents, according to action taken by the City Council last night. An equal portion of this insurance will be divided between the Dothan Insurance Co., J. E. Wise, A. E. Garner and R. L. Gaines.

Council decided that should any policies expire this year, necessitating the taking out of more insurance, that it shall be divided equally among the four stipulated agents.

The original plan was to base the placing of the city's insurance according to the license paid in to the city by the different agents, but this was changed.

The Cole Blease Act.

The Advertiser is going to keep saying something for the Governor which he didn't say till finally, he will come out in a card and clear himself of the statements accredited to him. We don't believe he threatened the legislature by proposing to turn the convicts out of the mines if the body didn't do what he wanted it to do. He has too much sense to make such a statement. That is in the Blease class and Governor Henderson isn't so childish. It be stands for that statement, and says it is his sentiment, then he had been made to say a very foolish thing. If he lets it get by without denying it, or affirming it, it will put him in bad attitude.

The legislature may want to make some recommendations as to who should sit on the board of equalization and the convict department officials, who will have the carrying out of the laws that the legislature passes. That body certainly isn't unreasonable when it asks the privilege of this. The Governor isn't going to object to the body having a say so, we don't believe. It is true, past governors have done it. But that is not a sufficient reason why the practice should be kept up.

Frank says he must live and vindicate himself. Slator would like for him to hurry and do it as he wants to run for senator.

Frank ought to get it in the neck thought a fellow convict and straight way he let him have it there.

If Carranza Has Learned Anything.

New York World.

Gen. Carranza is now in the best position of any of the contending factions to establish a stable government in Mexico. He controls the leading seaport, he controls the capital and he controls a line of railway between the two. His first task of restoring order in Mexico City and bringing in food for the starving should be easily achieved.

If he can then consolidate this position with any promise of permanency and prove a capacity for extending the area of orderly control northward, it will not be difficult for him to gain the moral support of the United States in bringing all Mexico out of anarchy into peace and reconstruction.

But to solidify his present advance and gain American recognition he must revise his methods and improve his diplomatic manners. He must be conciliatory with his factional adversaries. He must show a spirit of concession and compromise. He will not hurt his cause by being a little less querulous and obstinate and truculent in relation to the Washington government and its unselfish efforts to help Mexico out of her troubles.

Perhaps the pride and pomposity of the old Castilian have been chastened by recent experiences. If so, it may easily be that the beginnings of a stable government to be recognized by the United States are now in work in Mexico City.

John H. and the Advertiser.

The Advertiser has something to say about abolishing John H. Wallace's job. It thinks it was done by a "political opponent." Well, he did run against Gov. Henderson, didn't he?

It was Governor Henderson who recommended that John H.'s job be abolished. That was when he was a candidate.

The Advertiser says that if the people of Alabama disapproved of John, they wouldn't have elected him. Well, what else could they do? They didn't have the power of abolishing his job. The office would have been vacant, if no one had been elected, so they voted John back in, not that they liked John speedily, but they know some one had to hold the job John had created for himself.

The people down this way wanted to do away with John's job. They discussed it with the various candidates. The only way to abolish John, was to cut the pay clean out. That landed him, but left the law still in force, to be executed by the county officials.

Here's where the Advertiser displays ignorance that shouldn't be found in a high school pupil. It says, "The state has benefitted to the amount of forty thousand dollars from the operation of the law. The department has cost the tax payers nothing."

Cost the tax payers nothing?

If the Advertiser can tell us what's the difference in collecting a hunting tax out of one man in the state, and collecting a privilege tax out of the same man, or another thing, or the collection of the automobile tax, or cyclorama tax from another.

If the people were not taxed for this, they wouldn't pay it. If they were not taxed on their property, on their automobile, on hunting, they wouldn't pay it. If they pay it, they are tax payers.

The Governor himself, recognizing the uselessness of this job, proposed to have it done away with, in his first public address when he started his campaign. The people are with him in this.

And then, according to John's theory, because the department had forty thousand dollars he had collected, he should have the right to spend it to retain the department for the state. That's why he charged his last spring's lobbying expenses to this department, and thought he did the right thing.

The Dothan Eagle, in an inquiring mood, asks several questions, which we will proceed to answer:

How long is it from time to time?

So long.

What has become of the old fashioned frizzle the opposition was once beaten to?

Some of it is in the pen, some more of it under bond, some dead, some in the legislature and the rest of it runs regularly with the same result.

What has become of the old fashioned church bells that used to ring on Sabbath morning?

They are here. You sleep too late o' mornings.

What has become of the old fashioned skating lad?

It's had the skates put under it.—Talladega Home.

So our Governor is going to Cole Blease it if the legislature doesn't stop kicking his appointive powers around, eh?

GOVERNOR DENIES HE MADE ANY THREATS

Montgomery, July 19.—Governor Henderson denied today that he had made a threat that he would pardon all convicts in the penitentiary if the Legislature passed a bill taking from him the power of appointing the new pris- on commissioners. "No such threat has ever been made by this office," said the Governor. "And when one hears that any threat has been made by me he should consider it untrue as this department is not in the business of making threats."

"DEAD MAN" WALKS IN MILWAUKEE SALOON AND ORDERS DRINK

Milwaukee, Wis., July 19.—Frank A. Klug, for whose murder Nie Georgie of Chicago, is serving 25 years in the Wisconsin state penitentiary, today walked into a saloon here and ordered a drink.

A crowd in the saloon thinking Klug was a ghost, fled in panic.

After the crowd retained and was convinced that Klug was alive, they informed him that a body supposed to have been his was found last December, riddled with bullets, and that Georgie was convicted of his murder.

According to the ruling of the court which heard Georgie's trial, Klug is legally dead.

Danger Signals of Tuberculosis

In a previous article, it was stated that nearly everybody has tuberculosis at some time or other during his lifetime. Autopsies on people have shown that hardly a single human being reaches mature life without a scar on his lungs or elsewhere showing where tuberculosis had attacked him, and he, by his normal resistance and vitality, had warded off the continuation of the attack.

Because tuberculosis is so widespread, every man, woman and child should give the most careful attention to those signs of the disease which point out danger. The treacherous disease germs may enter the body in early childhood and may not cause any serious trouble for ten or fifteen years. Then, all of a sudden, when the body is weakened by overwork, worry, sickness, or bad living and working conditions, these sleeping germs wake up and become active in the destruction of the lungs or other organs. The working man or woman, therefore, cannot be too careful in the safeguarding of health and in watching out for those symptoms which indicate that the disease of tuberculosis is actually present. What, then, are some of the danger signals and what should be done about them?

(1) First of all, there is a cough that hangs on and will not clear up. If it lasts for a month or longer, it is a red light, a danger signal, which you cannot afford to ignore. It may start with wet feet or some other insignificant circumstance, but no matter how the cough started, if it does not go away, see your doctor at once. Colds frequently weaken the bodily tone and resistance, so that it is easy for the lurking germs to get a foothold.

(2) Loss of weight, accompanied by a loss of appetite, and a certain amount of "stomach trouble" is another danger signal, which you must not pass unheeded. Sometimes loss of weight may come from some other cause than tuberculosis, but it pays to be on your guard. You may not have a cough, and you may experience very little trouble except a sort of chronic weariness. You ought to know what your normal weight should be. If you begin to lose five, ten or more pounds without any apparent reason, look for sound medical advice at once. Sometimes with loss of weight goes a loss of appetite, and trouble with bowels and stomach, even running to diarrhea. Whether you are losing much weight or not, look out for this danger signal. It is a warning that something is wrong.

(3) Then there is that run-down, all-the-time-tired feeling. Most people have days when they feel unusually tired, for some reason or other. Such an occasional period of "spring fever" or "lazy liver" may not be at all dangerous, but when every day for two or three weeks you hate to get up and dread to do anything but lie around and be lazy, there is danger ahead. This is Nature's warning to you that some enemy inside your body is sapping your vitality. Don't ignore the warning signal!

(4) Anyone of the three symptoms just mentioned may occur singly or all of them may come at one time. When, to any or all, there is added a fever in the late afternoon or during the night, accompanied possibly by sweats, beware of this danger signal. It is a bright red flag which Nature waves before you, cautioning you to give immediate heed. Anyone's temperature may rise at times, some people's more easily than others. But when for a week every afternoon about four or five o'clock you've felt feverish, or when night after night you wake up in a dripping sweat, you may rest assured that there is nothing normal about that. Go to your doctor at once and tell him about it. You may have no cough and no other sign of disease, and this may be the only warning you'll get. Give heed to it at once.

(5) If you have a cough and in spitting you find streaks of blood in your sputum, you may rest assured that something is seriously wrong. It may not be a direct sign of tuberculosis, but whatever it is, you should attend to it at once. You cannot afford to waste time putting it off. Nature may give you that more emphatic warning of the presence of tuberculosis, a hemorrhage of the lungs. Don't be scared unduly. It is a danger signal, and if you heed it, you may be safe.

There are other danger signals, some which you can see and some which only a trained physician can detect. Your safety lies in giving medical attention as early as possible. Tuberculosis can be cured if it is discovered in time. The time to discover it is when the first symptoms show themselves. Don't take chances with health. You'll lose every time.

Go to a good doctor. If you notice any of these danger signals, and doubt that he can examine you stripped to the waist. If you can't afford a doctor, go to a free clinic and be examined. It may cost a few dollars to be examined, but it may save you hundreds of dollars in medical bills, and possibly your life and that of your wife and children.

"EARLY DISEASE" is a motto that applies to tuberculosis, and it is well to bear it in mind when the disease is first showing itself.

IF SKIN BREAKS. OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Use it like a cold cream and dry Eczema eruptions right up.

The moment you apply bold-sulphur to an itching or broken out skin, the stinging stops and healing begins, says a renowned dermatologist.

This remarkable sulphur made into a thick cream relieves such prompt relief, even in aggravated Eczema, that it is a never-ending source of amazement to physicians.

For many years bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous eruptions by reason of its cooling, parasite-destroying properties and nothing has ever been found to take its place in relieving irritable and inflammatory afflictions of the skin.

While not always establishing a permanent cure, yet in every instance, it immediately subdues the itching irritation, and heals the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again manifests itself.

Any good druggist will supply an ounce of bold-sulphur, which should be applied to the affected parts like the ordinary cold cream. It isn't unpleasant and the prompt relief afforded is very welcome, particularly when the Eczema is accompanied with tortuous itch-

The most notable step in the progress of the cleaning industry in America has been the perfection of service.

Let us give you a practical demonstration of the full meaning of this word—"Service." We want your confidence, so give us a trial.

OF BULLETS

War is a stimulus to science, and this is reflected very strikingly in matters pertaining to the relief of the wounded. The search for and extraction of fragments of shells is no simple matter, although surgical endeavor has been facilitated by the perfection of the X-rays. But these are insufficient. A bullet may be located speedily, but the difficulty is to ascertain its precise position by the probe and lancet. As a result of study and investigation a simple and effective method of discovery has been perfected, which may be described as telephoning for bullets. Ordinary telephonic receivers are clamped over the surgeon's head, one wire being led to a carbon plate and the second wound round the knife, probe, needle, forceps or whatever instrument is used. With this implement the search is made, and directly it comes into contact with, say, a bullet, a distinct click is heard on the telephone. If the instrument is rubbed across the surface of the buried object a rattle is observed, and by following this clink it is possible to withdraw the bullet or fragment of metal. The idea is by no means new, inasmuch as it was employed for the first time during the Boer war; but the present campaign has served to bring it to a high state of perfection.

"How do you like my hat?"

GUIDE TO JAPAN.

Walk up five months, beginning with January, turn sharply to your right, and there is June.

June is noted for its roses and honeymoons. There are more desolated households in June, on account of outgoing brides, than at any other time. Also more households where mamma experiences a grand feeling of relief and papa hopes that now expenses can be cut down.

To enjoy June properly, take an early start. Begin to make your plans about it in March. Get rid of your moral courage, your character and your regular business. Then, grabbing all the money there is in the cash drawer, enter June with confidence and give yourself up to it with the complete serenity of houseless irresponsibility.—Life.

PERSISTENT CHANGE.

"What are your ideas of the best form of government?"

"Oh," replied the restless agitator, "it isn't a question of what kind of a government we're after. It's merely getting rid of the one at present in operation."

AWKWARD SITUATION.

"For two dollars I will foretell your future."

"Are you a genuine soothsayer?"

"I am."

"Then you ought to know that I haven't got two dollars."

NO WONDER.

"There is one class of employed men who are expected to strike."

"Who are they?"

"Baseball batters."

NO DOUBT.

"Cotton has some dire possibilities as an investment."

"Naturally, cotton is a baleful object."

Tailors are a long-suffering race of men. On the least excuse—often with no excuse at all—their customers will do their best to get out of paying their debts.

Often had Mr. Coates, the tailor, meditated on this melancholy fact. Sometimes it was the bank rate, at others an increase in the family, strikes, lockouts, anything in fact was considered a good enough reason by many of his customers for not settling his little accounts. Now it was the war—this, from the point of view of the slippery customer, being an absolute winner.

The end of the month had come and gone without having caused him any extra work in the writing of receipts. His cashier consulted with him.

"Something's got to be done, Smith," said Coates vaguely.

"Yes, sir," agreed the dutiful Smith. "Shall I send round a gentle reminder to each of your clients, sir?"

The light of battle suddenly lit up the eyes of the injured Coates. "Gentle reminder be blown!" he shouted. "Send 'em an ultimatum—everybody's doing it now!"

JUDGE COULDN'T HELP HIM

Court Had to Refuse to Aid Timid Little Man in Controversy With Servant.

He was a timid little man. He entered the police magistrate's office and sidled up to the desk. "Your honor," he said, "my wife has a hired girl who insists upon putting three times as much coffee into the percolator as the recipe calls for. In spite of all we tell her, she keeps on making the coffee too strong and bringing us to the poorhouse with her extravagance."

"What's all that to me?" demanded the magistrate.

"I thought," explained the little man, "that you might let me issue a complaint against her and have her up before you, judge, to see if you couldn't make her do the way we want her to."

"Whatever put such a notion into your head?"

"Well," said the little man, "I've been reading in the papers how the citizens of some cities have to go into court to compel their public servants to do their bidding, and I thought the same thing might work with private servants, too."

"Nothing doing," replied the judge.—Newark News.

DECOLLETE DRESS.

"Clever deduction is everything," declared Sherlock Holmes. "For instance, if you see a lady going out in a ball costume it is safe to deduce that she is going to a ball."

"Not at all," objected Doctor Watson. "Many of our girls have adopted it for ordinary street wear."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

RIGHT BACK AGAIN.

"You ought not to mope so much. You should kiss your hand to trouble and tell it good-bye."

"Shucks! I've tried that. Just when I think trouble has gone for good I discover it executing a successful flanking movement."

POWER OF SUGGESTION.

"Does the public take to the rural play you call 'Pumpkin Pie'?"

"Take to it? Why, they simply eat it up!"

A PARTING SHOT.

Cholly (Making a date)—Very well, I'll be there bright and early.

Miss Kern—Be there early, anyway. I won't ask the other thing.

NOT ALARMING.

"I hear there has been another uprising in Great Britain."

"The Clasterites?"

"No; the aircraft."

THE CAUSE.

"How came it he had to eat his words?"

"I suppose it was his consuming ambition."

THINGS WERE SO GREAT.

We are full of afflictions and complaints. Our salary is too low, our rent too high. Somebody of less merit gets a better job. Our investment has gone wrong. Our children are disobedient and extravagant. The street cars are slow and crowded. The wheat crop has failed. Cholera gets the hogs.

Every now and then, however, we get the real measure of these tribulations. This neighbor is not worrying much about salary or rent, because the doctors have told him he must soon die. That neighbor finds no fault in his child, because it lies dead. The poor ventilation of our house seems quite tolerable in contrast with that other house, where snow beats through the cracks and there is neither fuel or food.

Before such comparisons we are dumb and contented for a day or a week. So in our national life; how manifold and poignant are the causes of complaint—until we look across at those places in Europe where death, wounds and beggary are the common lot!

Then—well, we shall complain as often and as bitterly as ever; but we shall whistle "Hail, Columbia" under our breath while doing it.—Saturday Evening Post.

SAVED BY A SHELL.

The captain, commander, torpedo-lieutenant and another officer of the Blucher only escaped going down with their ship by a most extraordinary coincidence.

They were in the armored conning tower when the vessel began to heel over from the effects of the British fire. They were preparing to leave it, as she was manifestly sinking, when a shell struck it with such force that the door jammed and could not be opened.

They resigned themselves to death, and, making a virtue of necessity, were preparing to go down with the ship, when a second shell struck the conning tower and blew the top clean off. Thus a way was opened for them to escape, thanks to their enemy, of which they availed themselves.

In the long list of semimiraculous occurrences it would surely be hard to find one to beat this.

OUTCLASSED.

Little Wife—Did you tell Mr. Blanks that baby had cut his first tooth?

Big Hubby—It's useless; he has a hen which laid fourteen eggs in six days.

Thoughts for the Day.

Sometimes when someone whom we love has quit the grind and push and shove of life, and closed the little door which shuts him out for evermore from things from this mundane sphere, we pause to drop a selfish tear. But when we think that narrow door shall open to those he loved of yore, that he will wander hand in hand with those he loved through Gloryland, that he, beyond the sunset's glow, will be with friends he used to know, that he, beyond the arching blue will be with those forever true, that never ache and never pain will come to visit him again, that he will put his years aside as a worn garment and will hide for ever in the ways of youth, when we can realize that truth, then still with tears our eyes are dim;

but all for us, and not for him—

The following piece copied from the Mobile Register may be of interest to the Dothan suff-ragists:

Equal Suffrage and the Alabama Legislature—(Communicated.)

There are two bills before the legislature asking that the right of suffrage for the women of the state on the same terms with men. One of these bills, in the Senate, is upon the calendar with a favorable report. The other has been postponed indefinitely by the house committee on privileges and elections. This committee has been called on for a report on the bill, but has refused. This is a safe and sure way to kill a measure.

Aside from the bills before the Senate and the house, the suffrage legislative committee has had a joint resolution, proposing an amendment granting equal suffrage to women presented in the house. It remains to be seen what action will be taken on this joint resolution when it comes up. The fact that the provision of the state constitution setting forth how the constitution may be amended may be construed in either of these two ways, led by the suffrage people to present the question in both forms.

The legislature has been formed with all the arguments in favor of the enfranchisement of women; it has been furnished with the opinions of men in every rank of life as to the justice of the demand, and of the benefits to be derived from it; it has been known that every state in the Union that has adopted suffrage endorses it in the highest terms;

it has been advised that the state of California has through its senate and congress passed a bill endorsing it which the governor signed, stating that California's prosperity and splendid advancement was due to moral support of its enfranchised women. It was also stated that the bill was passed because the anti-suffragists were saying that California and the West had not accomplished anything since they adopted equal suffrage and had found it unsatisfactory, which false statement they wished to forcibly contradict in order that those states that had not yet adopted it might not be misled; the legislature has also been furnished with ample proof that the men and women of the state are interested in the movement and the favorable report of the suffrage bill will develop at election times, whether or not that interest is fast growing.

Some legislators say that it will cost the state to have the decision made. But a trifle, we answer and we are quite sure it will save the state much more than she expends in that way,
by natural economical methods.
In Illinois a woman saved thousands of dollars in the educational department—having discovered among other irregularities that dead teachers' salaries were paid out together with salary to successor. Great bookkeeping and auditing! Woman has always been recognized as a moral power and her manifold philanthropic, charitable, civic and religious works as well as her accomplishments in all the arts, and sciences and large and small business undertakings should make her a desired and a powerful element for good in the government of her country.

The Alabama Equal Suffrage Association is making a strong and earnest appeal to the manhood of the state, as represented in the legislature, to grant to the womanhood of the state the right of suffrage as she prefers that the right should come from them rather than through the Genuine Pleasure and satisfaction goes with every garment we make.

federal government. There are now eleven states with full suf-
